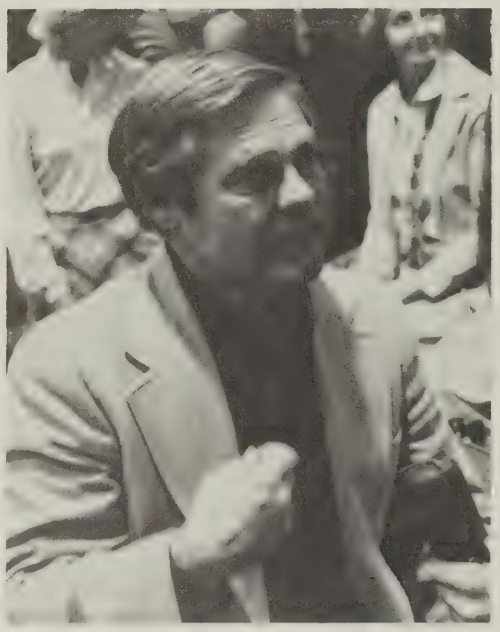
The Winningest Active Coach in College Basketball



Dick Baldwin is the winningest active basketball coach of them all — four-year and two-year. He has never had a losing season in 34 years, and his teams have never lost more than four games in succession. His overall record is 773 wins and 226 losses. Perhaps the most unique of the many statistics in Coach Baldwin's long and illustrious career is the fact that he has never missed a single one of his team's 999 games — even when he had a 105 degree-fever.

All this has been accomplished by what could at best be called low-keyed recruiting. BCC has no dorms, no free rides, and no easy pickings in the classrooms. Player-students must stay eligible scholastically, and some are lost to poor grades each year. Coach Baldwin, the class of "81" salutes you!

John F. Kennedy

by Robert Bly

I want to be a stream of water falling—
Water falling from high in the mountains, water
That dissolves everything,
And is never drunk, falling from ledge to ledge,
  from glass to glass.
I want the air around me to be invisible, resilient,
Able to flow past rocks.
I will carry the boulders with me to the valley.
Then ascending I will fall through space again:
Glittering in the sun, like the crystal in sideboards, Goblets of the old life, before it was ruined by the Church.
And when I ascend the third time, I will fall forever, Missing the earth entirely.

I Remember As a Child

by Tom Hanafin

I remember as a child . . .
  the woods . . .
    and even . . .
      farther away . . .
Where the rainbow . . .
  promised . . .
    to touch the earth . . .
      and the side of a hill and the birds who lived there.
We picked blueberries then and swept a path through the green jungle
    vowing to never reveal the secrets . . .
        we've now forgotten.

Pumpkin

by Gary Lawless

pumpkin: totem of the season cider and corn
  nights a little darker
    a little clearer
    moon full, bright over the ocean dried weeds from the field in your hand leaves red and yellow, brown . . .
the warmth of home,
    quilts when its late put sand in the bottom of new wood stove
bed house and fields for winter the days sail by with the tides the tides climb higher, moon crosses the sky
      in the distance
        dead leaves rattle in the wind a song of the season
